Mama bear with cubs kills dog; wounds two others

This past Sunday a beautiful, balmy day turned grim. Between noon and 1 p.m., a family on Satulah Road – who lives about three blocks from the Ugly Dog Public House – was visited by a mama bear and a cub. Within minutes one dog was dead and two others were injured.

Lynn Kimball and her husband Kerry Wedge consider themselves a bear friendly but wary family and think little of it when they see bears in their driveway or in the yard – but this encounter was different.

“We bring the birdfeeders in before dusk and don’t let the dogs out after dusk,” said Lynn, “But this was in broad daylight.”

On this Sunday afternoon, the front door was open and so the dogs were free to come and go. “Richard” the bear cub is doing well

Board finalizes budget cuts; clarifies use of K-H Park

At Thursday’s last budget workshop, the Town Board made the final cuts to the capital projects list and solidified what revenues will come in and what will go out for fiscal year 2015-16.

Since so much has been spent on recreation over the past year, the board decided to nix two major projects on the Recreation Department’s capital project wish list – the stage renovations and the lower level renovations.

With the help of Art and Angela Williams as well as money earmarked from last year’s property tax increase, funds were allocated to renovate the pool house, enclose the year-round pool, build a new baseball field house, install a new gym floor including a cover and new bleachers, as well as new bathrooms on the upper level of the Civic Center.

Jackson County agrees to pay Highlands for fire protection

Each year, Jackson County cuts a check to the Highlands Fire Department in the amount of $7,300 for the services provided to homes that fall on the county-line. While the check has always been appreciated, it has fallen short of how much the department actually spends to service the 330 parcels of land that border Macon County.

This year, after a unanimous vote by Jackson County Commissioners last week to approve a new fire district, Highlands Fire Department will receive $50,000.

“I am very pleased that the Highlands Fire Department will finally be getting their fair share of revenue for the services that they provide,” said Macon County Commissioner Jim Tate. “Since the fire department’s inception, the board has made the decision to fund this district and I am glad to support it.”

Each year athletes at Highlands School name someone in the community who has been the biggest fan at sports events throughout the year. At last week’s Athletic Banquet, Highlands School math teacher Gina Billingsley was honored.

Chairwoman B.E.A.R. Task Force

The B.E.A.R. Task Force wanted to do a follow-up to the article that ran in the May 14 edition of Highlands Newspaper about the little bear cub that was rescued from a tree and sent to a rehabilitator in Winston Salem. I have received many questions as to how he is doing and am glad to report “Richard” is doing quite well.

I spoke with Dana Sims of Kindred Spirits Wildlife Center on May 23rd, who told me they decided on the name Richard because he was considered royalty to the folks in Highlands. She described him as a “very pretty” cub, but very assertive and definitely an alpha personality type. He shares a “den” with Regina, with whom he plays and tussles, and he is very happy.

Richard had a couple health...

Mayor on Duty

It’s what you do that counts

The budget for the new fiscal year will be presented at tonight’s board meeting. As usual, the meeting starts at 7 p.m. at the Highlands Community Building.

I encourage everyone to arrive early around 6 p.m. for a reception honoring Captain R.L. Forrester of the Highlands Police Department. He is retiring after 30 years of distinguished service. A brief ceremony will start at 6:45.

Day after day and year after year, R.L. has always been on duty, most of the time putting in routine shifts. But, I want to share with you a story about one shift early in his career that was far from routine.

The young Patrolman Forrester was pulling a night shift by himself back when the town thought it was economically sensible to have just one officer on the night shift. What could possibly happen in this little town? Well something did happen, a drug deal that had gone bad resulted in an innocent person being murdered just north of Highlands.

A 911 call went out to all law enforcement officers in the area that a murder had just happened. Included was a precise description of the murder suspect and a warning that he was armed.

Patrolling late that night, R.L. saw a person matching the suspect’s description making a call on a downtown pay phone. How R.L. responded was amazing. There is a saying that character is what you do when no one else is watching. Working alone, R.L. could have easily driven by this dangerous suspect avoiding any confrontation. Nobody would have known. But, R.L. Forrester had taken an oath to protect his community, so he didn’t look away. Instead, he confronted the murderer, while his associates in the crime circled the block in their gangster car observing what was taking place.

Years later when I was the magistrate, R.L. told me the whole story. “Your honor,” he always called me much to my bewildered amazement, “if those guys would have known I was the only policeman on duty, they would have killed me and freed their buddy.”

In making the arrest, R.L. drew his weapon and ordered the suspect to stop trying to put his hand in his right pocket. Once the criminal was in handcuffs, a pistol was found in that same pocket.

My point is that the nicest cop you would ever meet, R.L. Forrester, always did his sworn duty. The Captain may not have been a “TV super cop,” but he would do anything, even jeopardize his life, to serve and protect the people of Highlands.

Over the years he has been a model of high professional standards and integrity. The Captain has provided leadership in the best trained, honest and committed police force the town has ever had.

Tonight R.L. should not call the mayor, “your honor.” The truly honorable person is being honored tonight.

Our appreciation and prayers go out to Captain Forrester and his family.

Let’s keep Highlands from being ‘trashy’

Dear Editor

Trashy seems like a good description when I see bits of paper, beer cans, coffee cups, straw covers, candy wrappers and so on, tossed to the sidewalks and grassy areas along Highlands sidewalks. That’s the word used by Mayor Taylor on his Sunday radio program - Ask the Mayor. There was a recent major project of cleaning up the Gorge which I did not attend. However, at the previous Community Coffee (held on the last Friday of each month at the Hudson Library 11am), Mayor Taylor said he has incorporated trash pickup on his weekly “walk with the Mayor” jaunts throughout our town.

The idea of taking a bag with me on my daily walks through town appealed to me as something I could do with very little effort. So, with bag in hand I decided to pick up those trashy pieces left behind by thoughtless folks. Lo and behold, on our 2-mile walk, I picked up a plastic bottle, paper coffee cup, candy wrapper, straw cover, used tissue (yuck) and more.

This sounds like such a little amount; but, if other walkers took Mayor Taylor’s suggestion and used that walking time to help beautify our town of Highlands, we would have much cleaner views of what is already a beautiful spot in the mountains.

Let’s see if his ‘trash pickup idea’ catches on and becomes just one of those things we do on our daily walks throughout this beautiful place we call Highlands!

issues when he arrived. He had developed a cough, which she presumes was the result of over-feeding. According to Dana, that is easy with a bear cub since they have voracious appetites and don't know when to quit, sometimes causing them to aspirate their formula. But the cough cleared up with the use of herbal remedies.

He also had wounds from the plastic he’d been entangled with, and they needed regular debriding—not easy with a bear who doesn’t understand that it is being done to help, not hurt him. Fortunately, none of his wounds were infected, and they are healing well.

Dana is his only caregiver. In order to prevent the cubs from getting accustomed to humans, she wears a furry suit when handling them. The only sounds she makes with the bear cubs are those that a mother bear would make. Dana has developed techniques over 25 years that are very effective in keeping animals wild, so that when they are turned out into the wild they will not desire to associate with humans. Little Richard, she says, will stay absolutely wild.

The only sounds she makes with the bear cubs are those that a mother bear would make. Dana has developed techniques over 25 years that are very effective in keeping animals wild, so that when they are turned out into the wild they will not desire to associate with humans. Little Richard, she says, will stay absolutely wild.

There are six bears currently housed at Kindred Spirits, all of which came from western N.C. In a few months Richard and Regina will be put in an outside pen with the other four. There they will learn to forage for food and develop the skills necessary to survive in the wild. There will be no adult bears with them, just Dana, their “mom.” If all goes well, they will be released to the wild a year from now.

Kindred Spirits is the only bear rehabilitation center in North Carolina. It is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization with permits at both state and federal levels. Unfortunately, they get no funding from the state or federal government for the valuable work they do; it is strictly voluntary.

B.E.A.R., a task force of Mountain-True (previously named Western NC Alliance), has decided to send them a donation of $250 to help with little Richard’s care. We are asking the community to pitch in to help out, too. We would love to send Dana a check for $2,000 or more. Please consider sending a generous contribution made out to “BEAR-MountainTrue” at PO Box 1238, Highlands, NC, 28741. All the funds will go to Kindred Spirits, and every penny will be used to provide care for the animals. Donations are completely tax deductible.

I will keep in touch with Dana and provide another up-date in the fall. In the meantime, we want to remind people to mind your garbage and bird feeders so we don’t wind up with “problem bears,” possibly creating more orphaned bear cubs due to mothers being shot.

go, but suddenly their seven dogs were all outside barking like crazy.

“We went to see what was going on and saw a bear standing on its back legs with its paws up on the trunk of a tree,” said Lynn.

The barking scared the bear off and they grabbed up all the dogs, took them inside and shut the door. When there was no more barking and it was quiet, the bear returned and a cub that was up the tree came down.

They put all the dogs on a bed but only had six of the seven dogs.

“We realized we were missing a dog,” said Lynn. “Between grabbing all the dogs and the bear, we missed Bella, the 4lb, six-year-old schnoodle. I also realized there was blood on a pillow case and our 15lb, 10-year-old schnauzer poodle had gashes everywhere.”

They immediately took the dog to Veterinarian Dr. Amy Patterson who began doctoring it.

Back home the search continued for the missing schnoodle.

“We finally found Bella … she was inside our property line on the grassy part within the invisible fencing. She had been clawed and her side was busted out,” said Lynn.

Sunday night they picked the wounded dog up from the vet.

“She had many gashes and many stitches, but she is going to be OK,” Lynn said.

In the meantime, they found a superficial wound on another dog, but Lynn said she is fine.

“Our conclusion, as sad as it is, is that this is nature. The bear would not have attacked if she wasn't fearful for her cubs. And seven dogs barking, I am sure, startled the mother bear.”

They buried Bella in their pet burial place. Lynn said based on the severity of her wounds she doesn't believe she suffered long or at all.

Just before the confrontation Lynn got a call from a neighbor on Many Road who said a mama bear with two cubs was headed their way. “So we are sure the bear and cub in our yard was the same,” said Lynn.

According to Mike Carroway, Wildlife Biologist with the NC Wildlife Resource Commission, this is a bumper year for cubs so there will be a lot of mama bears foraging for food and parking their cubs in trees to protect them while they are gone.

He said there is nothing his department can do when a bear kills a dog and a bear wouldn't be killed for tangling with a dog.

“Dogs are like nails on a chalkboard for bears and since they bark, a lot of times dogs are the instigators,” he said.

He suggests keeping dogs on a leash when outside and if in a penned in area, use electric wire to deter a bear.

Lynn and her family harbors no malice for the bear. “It's just not often we hear of something like this happening in town and I want people to be careful and be aware. This was heartbreaking and scary,” she said.

the Macon County taxpayers have been funding the vast majority of the money needed to operate the station and now all of the Jackson County property owners who the Highlands Fire Department has been servicing will now pay the exact same rate as the Macon County taxpayers. This is fair and equal from the fire department’s standpoint.”

Chuck Wooten, Jackson County Manager, said that Highlands Fire Department asked Jackson officials for $50,000 for the services provided to their residents. While the 330 parcels of property fall within Jackson County borders, in the event of an emergency, Highlands Fire and Rescue can respond to the homes in half the time as Jackson County service people. The properties are completely landlocked by national forest or Macon County roads, making it impossible to reach the homes without first crossing into Macon County.

To solve the budget problem, Jackson County Commissioners approved a new fire district specifically for the homes in question, and levied a just below 1 penny fire tax. The tax will allow the $50,000 needed to be recouped, without altering the county’s existing budget.

“Since the Highlands Fire Department already provides fire response and coverage to the new fire district, it is simply a matter of recouping funds that are already expended in providing the protection,” said Highlands Mayor Patrick Taylor.

The new fire tax is just one of recent efforts to provide better service to the Macon/Jackson border homes. Macon and Jackson counties have also worked together to erect a new fire sub-station to service those homes. While the land the substation is on, and the construction of the building was paid for by residents, the staffing for the department will be handled by the Highlands Fire and Rescue Department.

“We will provide equipment for the new substation, which will lower the fire insurance rate for residents near the substation,” said Mayor Taylor. “There will be no round the clock staffing of the station, although volunteer fire fighters who live near the substation could respond to a fire using the equipment housed in the new facility.”

The $50,000 will help with costs associated with the fire needs for that area of the county, but it does fall short of the county’s original budget plans. Macon County Manager Derek Roland put a price tag of about $160,000 the county spends to provide policing, fire protection, and other services such as trash pickup for those 330 parcels.

He said the fire tax will lessen that burden, but still leaves Macon County footing the bill for more than $100,000 annually for homes that are technically in Jackson County.

“Because those homes are in Jackson County, Jackson County receives the taxes for those properties, whose land value is estimated at $244,257,010. With homes on those properties factored in, the tax value exceeds $445 million,” he said.

To get the buildings and programs up to par and to best service citizens, last fiscal year the Highlands advotem tax rate was increased by 1.5 cents. So, 13.5 cents became 15 cents per $100 valuation with the understanding that revenue raised by the additional 1.5 cents be earmarked for capital projects within the Parks and Recreation Department. It is scheduled to sunset in FY 2016-‘17. Whether it continues will be up to the sitting Town Board at that time.

“We OK’d the tax increase so we could build up the fund to be used for recreation, but there has been no chance to build up the fund because it was spent even before it came in,” said Commissioner Eric Pierson who spoke in favor of nixing the two projects suggested. “We haven’t neglected the Rec Park facilities this year, so now let’s build up the fund so we don’t have to pull from the General Fund to finance projects in the future.”

In his budget message, Town Manager Bob Frye suggested nixing from the Recreation Department and the MIS/GIS Department to decrease the amount of money the town would need to pull from the undesignated fund balance to fund this year’s capital projects.

To pay for everything on the capital projects wish list across departments, $610,037 would have had to be pulled from the undesignated fund balance.

“Frankly, I am not comfortable with pulling the entire projected revenue shortfall from the fund balance,” said Frye. “I would feel more comfortable with an approipa-tion of around $300,000. This will leave us with sufficient reserve and not place too much stress on our fund balance.”

MIS/GIS Director Matt Shuler said the $60,000 for the downtown Wi-Fi project could be deleted because besides the hotspots provided by the town, there were plenty of places in town that offered free Wi-Fi and those businesses should be able to reap the benefits of offering that free service.

In addition he and Commissioner Amy Patterson said most people have data plans on their phones and many use them as hotspots.

He also suggested and the board agreed to reduce the amount of renovations to repurpose the bathroom building by Town Hall which will house components for the broadband/fiber project.

He said it’s looking like municipalities will be allowed to move forward as internet providers, but the issue is still pending so the project can be phased in.

Shuler suggested $40,000 to $50,000 in renovations rather than the original $70,000; the board agreed.

With deletions, that puts the amount needed from the undesignated fund balance at around $375,000.

Everything is “hunky-dory” in Highlands….almost

(More outrageous babel)

Isn’t it just swell to live in a tucked-away high altitude mountain town away from the maddening crowds and all those obnoxious dangerous foreigners…like from Florida or Atlanta….or Syria?

While planet Earth appears to have gone completely and totally mad, becoming a scary place to live, we ask, “Who cares?” Do we concern ourselves with terrorist attacks, deadly climate change and awesome killer sales at Macy’s? Ha, do we give a big fat rat’s butt about any of that? Ha, again. Eat your heart out, America, ’cause, while the rest of our country continues to unwind, Highlands is the Camelot of our planet. And when I put on my rose-colored glasses, (I have two pair.) I see and hear no evil.

When merchants step out of their shops onto Main Street, what do they see? Do they see terrorists beheading Christians or shooting them in the head at point-blank range? I think not. Do they see people in cages being burned alive?

Remember this rule. If you don’t see it or hear it then it’s not occurring. What Highlanders do see is a soaring stock market and tourists with fat wallets looking for a good place to eat and lighten their pockets. In Highlands everything is peachy keen. Let the tourist season begin!

And should any of those scary, radical sand people accidentally wander into our beautiful beloved town, always remember we have a small army of volunteer mountain men who are on our side. Those guys can shoot the eyeballs on a squirrel’s head from a football field away. Oh, and here’s a serious question for you to ponder. Is saying or writing “sand people” a racial slur? After all they could be kindergarten children…or not!

As soon as we get our own power plant up and running in Highlands, we can finally cut the cord from Duke Power….or not. Have you already forgotten we’re already flushing all our poopy water down the river toward Franklin? Ha, what do we care? Everything in Highlands is “hunky dory.”

I know you must be wondering why I would use a term as childish as “hunky dory” to describe our town. It’s because I’m a child in an adult body. Sooooo, wonder away high altitude breathers wearing rose colored glasses with not a care in the world, everything in Highlands is splendid. Oh, and I still haven’t decided what I’ll be when I grow up!

We do know that the term hunky dory wasn’t conjured up from nowhere. The word “hunky” means fit and healthy and may have come from the Latin term “hunkum-bunkum.” Also, my lil’ missus uses the term “hunk” to describe a really over-the-top hot guy. This ancient phrase, roughly translated, means, “if you’re coming to Highlands, bring loads of money.” Am I making this up? Please, write in.

Also, the phrases “just swell” and “okeydoke” in describing our magnificent town can also be translated from Greek mythology in meaning “up your nose with a rubber hose,” a phrase started in the early thirties by an anesthesiologist not from Highlands.

The term “hunky-dory” is closely related to another term called “peachy-keen.” These ancient terms, loosely translated, can mean “We eat fresh road kill.” Also, those terms can also mean “hide your women and children ’cause there are drunken US secret service agents heading for Highlands.”

PS – For the record, kindergarten children are not normally called sand people and I only wrote that to piss off the progressives.

At tonight’s Town Board meeting the 2015-’16 budget will be finalized incorporating the 1.4 cent per $100 valuation to keep the budget revenue neutral while adjusting for the decrease in property values due to the revaluation.

Frye said he doesn’t believe town fees will have to increase.

Mayor Pat Taylor said he is hearing that the Sales Tax redistribution plan will be a no-go, so Highlands and Macon County will have dodged a huge bullet.

If that’s the case, most of the money collected in sales tax would continue to be appropriated to the municipalities that collect it – about $850,000 for Highlands and $1.2 million for Macon County.

K-H Founder Park

At last Thursday’s final budget work-session, Nick Bazan of the K-H Founders Park Coalition, came for the final OK for the upcoming activities planned for the dedication and opening of the park on Saturday, May 30.

There was some confusion about co-mingling alcohol and money (as in donations for the K-H Park/Sossomon property renovations.)

After going back and forth with the ABC Commission and its delegates, Highlands Police Chief Bill Harrell said that beer can be given away by Satulah Brewing Company as planned and people can bring beer or wine to the concert in the park from 7-9 p.m., but buckets for donations can’t be where the beer is distributed or alcohol consumed. Furthermore, people can only bring beer or wine into the park, not liquor.

In addition, the town’s ordinance concerning events in the park was reiterated by Frye and Town Planner Josh Ward.

Though the ABC Commission allows alcohol to be sold and consumed at events with a special permit, the town only allows libations to be brought into the park by citizens during the Music in the Park series from 6-8 p.m. which begins Saturday, June 6 – ABC Commission permit or not. This will also be allowed from 7-9 p.m. on Saturday, May 30.

Furthermore, no food vendors are allowed to sell meals in the park during the Music in the Park series or at any other time.

MicroPhototherapy • MicroCurrent • Celluma

MicroPhototherapy
With the healing power of light and heat energy this treatment works deep beneath the surface of the skin to give a younger healthier looking appearance. Soothing pulses of heat work with light to lessen sun spots, even out skin tone and smooth the texture of your skin with virtually no down time or discomfort.

MicroCurrent
Microcurrent aids in reducing the signs of aging by utilizing a low level of electricity that mimics our own body's biological current. These tiny microcurrent impulses trigger chemical reactions at a cellular level to enhance the production of natural collagen and elastin, provide circulatory benefits, and work directly on the nerves and muscle fibers. The result is visible firming and smoothing of the skin. It also helps tone facial muscles.

Although you will notice the treatment's tightening effects immediately, the more significant improvement will occur gradually over a period of several weeks as the new collagen forms.

Celluma’s phototherapy device, uses wavelengths of light produced by light emitting diodes (LEDs) to treat multiple conditions – acne & anti-aging.

‘Bubbles and All That Jazz’ fundraiser at The Playhouse June 20

* Dinner • Drinks • Jazz • Auctions – Tickets available now

The Highlands Playhouse is pleased to announce its biggest fundraiser of the year, Bubbles and All That Jazz.

The fanfare begins on June 20 at 6pm for drinks and browsing the wonderful items up for bids at the auction later in the evening. A champagne dinner will be served under the tent at 7, which will be an all you can eat Low Country Boil served family-style.

The live auction will take place during dinner. Some of the wonderful items up for bid include African Safaris, tickets to the 2016 Tony Awards, other vacations and beautiful artwork. There will be many more wonderful items that you will not want to miss out on.

2015 Highlands Playhouse Classic Film Festival

The first annual Highlands Playhouse Classic Film Festival brings a never-before-seen celebration of film to Highlands Sept. 18-20. The Highlands Playhouse gives our viewers a rare opportunity to see these movies in the same way audiences experienced them back then: on the big screen, with the added plus of today’s digital technology. The following films will be shown during the festival: The Wizard of Oz, Stagecoach, Goodbye, Mr. Chips, Mr. Smith Goes To Washington, Gone With The Wind, The Hound of The Baskervilles, The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle.

In order to get the Town of Highlands involved we are going to have a Trivia Stroll, where our attendees will be going around to local vendors, stores, restaurants and hotels to gather trivia questions in order to compete for the prizes. This gets people out and about, seeing what this town has to offer. We will also have book signings and lectures for people to attend located at a few different venues here in Highlands.

Something special was in the water in the late 1930’s when these seven motion pictures were released, and they are only a fraction of the classics from that golden year of 1939. The total number of Academy Awards earned for these productions totals 14. They are from a variety of studios representing a variety of subjects. So join us on the Yellow Brick road to Tara, out west, to Washington, DC and to London....popcorn anyone?

Do you have Slavic Roots? A meeting of the Carpatho-Rusyn Society “South” will be held on Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Macon County Library, 149 Siler Rd. If your ancestors immigrated from the Austro-Hungarian Empire, Czechoslovakia, lived in the Carpathian Mountains, were called Lemkos, Galicians, Rusnaks, Russians, Slavic, Greek Catholics, Orthodox or Byzantines, you could be Carpatho-Rusyn! Did your ancestors bless Easter baskets and decorate Easter eggs ( pysanky) and have a special Christmas Eve dinner (Velića/Svätýj Večer)? These people did not have a country of their own but resided within Slovakia, Ukraine, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Croatia and Czech Republic as a minority. Most were Eastern Slavs living in Slovakia and emigrating to American in the late 1800’s and early 1900’s working in the coal mines or steel mills of PA, WV, OH, NJ or AL. Guests are welcome! For more information call George or Shelah Portoukalian, 828-369-3136 or email: checki@frontier.com.

Bridge: Mental Gymnastics Taught at CLE

If your brain has become stagnant and your bridge skills a little rusty, The Center for Life Enrichment is offering you the chance to get your brain in shape and enhance your social life with bridge expert Duane Meeter. Duane has taught bridge in Highlands and Tallahassee, FL for the last fifteen years. He is a certified American Contract Bridge League teacher and director, a member of the American Bridge Teacher’s Association and a Silver Life Master. Duane will be teaching you how to improve your bidding by practicing some simple rules and principles in Bridge: Polishing Your Basics (Intermediate) 4 sessions- Mondays, June 8, 15, 22 and 29, 9:30-11:30. Cost $80/$100.

A study by Berkeley University showed that there are significant health benefits from playing bridge. Bridge teaches you logic, reasoning, quick thinking, patience, concentration and partnership skills. Many people find that as they get older their brain seems to slow down. Like muscles, your brain requires exercise and playing bridge regularly stimulates your brain and helps keep your memory active and your brain alert. This brain activity also boosts your immune system.

Another benefit to playing bridge is meeting people and enjoying an active social life. Instead of sitting home and feeling miserable and lonely with no one to talk to, you will be engaging in conversations and getting out and about. Playing bridge can alleviate boredom and is played by millions—socially in homes and clubs and competitively in tournaments. The allure of the benefits of bridge has engaged the likes of Warren Buffet and Bill Gates who have both played for years.

To register for bridge or any of the other interesting classes CLE has to offer please call 828-526-8811 or visit www.clehighlands.com or stop by the office located in the lower level of the Peggy Crosby Center at 348 S. 5th Street.
Coming Home

By Pastor Paul Christy
Highlands United Methodist Church

A s I write to you this week, I am excited because the town is beginning to fill once again. It is always good to see our friends and family return for another season.

That is one of my favorite things about living in Highlands; it is always like coming home. People actually greet one another with kindness; driving down Main Street cars stop to let walkers go from one side of the street to the other side; and it is like coming home when restaurants are full and church pews are packed. There is something about coming home, isn’t there?

One of my favorite stories in the Bible was told by Jesus in the way Luke the physician wrote in the 15th chapter in his Gospel. It is a story about coming home and it is a story about God’s love and grace. It’s about two brothers. The younger brother wants his inheritance so he can go and make a name for himself. He was tired of working on the farm and he wanted to go to the city and get involved in his own business. As long as he stayed on the farm, he would just be the little brother. He wanted to leave because like all of us he wanted to make a name for himself and be his own person. Yet, in asking for his inheritance, he was really saying, “Dad, I wish you were dead because I want my money and I want it now!”

That was the custom of the time; the older brother got the real inheritance, and most fathers would not have given the younger son the time of day. But this father was different, he loved his sons and he wanted both of them to be happy and successful. In fact, he went against the local customs of the time just so his younger son could see the world.

The younger son, with a pocket full of cash, went to the city and he ate out every meal at the five-star restaurant and he slept at the Hilton every night and he had friends. But what he didn’t realize was the reason he had so many friends was because he always picked up the tab. He invested some of his money in business that failed, and soon his pockets were empty; his friends left him and he realized he had made poor decisions.

This is why the stories Jesus told are ones that we can all relate to because I venture to guess that all of us have made some poor decisions in life, haven’t we? So the young man comes to himself and after working on a farm or in the city, he decided to venture back home. He talked to himself like most of us have done at times, and in that self-conversation, he said: “Now when I get home the first thing I will say is, “Dad I have sinned against you and God, and I am no longer worthy to be called your son, but I want you to hire me as one of your servants on the farm and I will work hard and never again leave this place.”

He had it all worked out, and he headed home with his head hanging down. But before he could even get home, his dad saw him and ran to greet him and he said; “Son I thought you were dead and now you are alive, I thought you were lost and now you are found.”

Then the loving father said, “Bring a family ring and put it on his finger because my boy has come home, and we are going to have a party.”

Now Jesus told that story to teach us what God was like but I also think Jesus told that story to remind us that we all have a home with God.

If we read on in the story, we see that the older brother who stayed and worked while the younger brother sowed his oats was not as welcoming as the father. In fact, he was mad because he felt he did everything right and we all know if you do everything right life works out right?

But the wise Father in the story, (God) told the older son that his love for him was the same as it always had been and to be happy because family had returned home. I love that story because it is about coming home and I encourage you to read the story for yourself because this is the way I tell the story and let me assure you Jesus tells the story much better.

So I end this week’s column by saying whether you have done everything right or whether you have done some things wrong in your life, God says to us “Welcome Home,” when we make that journey back to God.

The good news is if we have been away for a while or even if we have always been close to God, the message is the same, welcome home!
Wheeler part of Mission’s Primary Care

Mission Health is pleased to announce the addition of Patti Wheeler, MD. Dr. Wheeler is joining Mission Medical Associates and Mission Community Primary Care – Highlands, a service provided by Highlands-Cashiers Hospital from Highlands Medical Associates where she served as a family medicine physician. Dr. Wheeler is board certified in family medicine. She has also served as a hospice and home visit physician. Dr. Wheeler enjoys outdoor activities such as water sports, gardening, cooking and reading.

The Rotary Club of Highlands meeting “took over” the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club of Highlands with a fast-paced, fun-filled presentation that inspired everyone in attendance and gave Rotarians a glimpse of the exciting, positive leaders of the future. Interact Club members presented highlights of their community volunteerism in the past year including: the Christmas Tree Lighting; the Halloween Candy program; fundraising for school supplies; the Mouse Pad project; the church breakfast to raise awareness of homelessness; the “Goat Project” in Haiti; food and supplies drive for the Humane Society; donations to the Emergency Council; and the Gorge Road Cleanup. According to Wooten, the discussion between the two counties will continue. Wooten said Jackson County is still in the budget process, and are including conversations regarding an allocation for Macon County based on budgeting costs associated with EMS and 911 services.

“The proposed reimbursement is not based on tax value since that is immaterial as to cost of the service,” said Wooten. “To my knowledge there has been no discussion about the Sheriff’s office.”

Jackson County is also considering different options for solid waste collections.

As it stands, the houses in question are using Macon County landfills for trash disposal. Wooten explained that Jackson commissioners are looking at eliminating the required Jackson County solid waste fee for these parcels, allowing residents to contract with Macon County for those services.
