HFW Festival to be held on private property this year

The Highlands Food & Wine Festival committee was supposed to return to the July Town Board meeting to solidify plans for the November festival but instead Mayor Pat Taylor read an email from the HFW committee at June's Town Board meeting last Thursday saying that plans as outlined at the May Town Board meeting would be put on hold at least for this year.

"On behalf of Jack Austin, Chairman of the Board, the Board of Directors of the Highlands Area Chamber of Commerce, and our members, we wish to express our appreciation to the Town of Highlands Board of Commissioners for their vote of confidence and support for an expanded Highlands Food & Wine Festival (HFW) as it prepares to celebrate its 10th anniversary in 2016.

"The Chamber's ultimate goal is to focus this event in the immediate downtown business district

Chamber reaches for new 'heights'

Over the last 18 months, the Highlands Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Center has been working to develop a new logo and marketing direction for the organization. The efforts began in the first quarter of 2015 when the marketing committee was debating whether to expand into new publications, markets and other outlets given the increase in occupancy taxes generated by Highlands hospitality business over the past few years.

The Chamber of Visitors Center is charged with re-investing the occupancy tax to market Highlands, and the increase in visitors and tax dollars prompted more in-depth, strategic discussions about how best to accomplish this for the good of businesses and the community.

Highlands isn't Mayberry

The tragic murder of 49 innocent people in Orlando made the country realize once again that there is no place free from senseless gun violence at the hands of deranged people, whether radical Islamic terrorist or other religious and political zealots. Even Highlands, the epitome of "Mayberry," is not exempt from potential violence and terror.

For us to embrace the notion it could never happen in our town would be a serious mistake. I admit we are an unlikely target, but other recent sites, such as the ones in South Carolina, California and Florida, were also unlikely targets.

Again, let me say we are not Mayberry, and Sheriff Andy and Barney are dead. While Highlands presents the Mayberry image of a simple and plain little mountain town, we are actually a rather complex, sophisticated community. Two police officers with one bullet is not adequate.

If you look at the police report in the newspaper, it is usually almost laughable as to the incidents reported, like a bear on a deck, or a barking dog. While Highlands

Highlands Mayor

is by no stretch of the high crime area, we have had serious situations. Last Halloween there was a domestic hostage situation that resulted in gunfire and serious injury. Last summer there was a smash and grab at a local jewelry store by a regional gang of bandits. A couple of years ago we had a bank robbery where a sawed off shotgun was discharged. (Thankfully, those thugs are still in federal prison.)

We must have a fully staffed, around the clock, well trained, police force. Our cadre of 12 full-time officers meet the staffing level required by state regulatory agencies. Please don't call me to say we have too many police around town, and we should go back to the long past good old days of three or four officers. The bad criminal types need to feel that a cop might just be anywhere and everywhere.

Our police officers are well trained and armed to deal with any dangerous situation. They routinely conduct drills for active shooter scenarios such as in large venues like schools and public gatherings. Our police chief is in constant communication with area, state and national law enforcement agencies for warnings, alerts and advisories. Another level of security is the mutual aid agreement with the Macon County Sheriff's Department. The sheriff has a constant presence in the area, and both departments work closely and seamlessly together.

Each year we have several state and national officials discreetly visit the plateau. Folk have no idea they are here with security details. That is the way it should be. Federal and state security agencies depend on our police department to function as backup law enforcement for these visits. These agencies also expect our officers to know all the best security procedures, which they do. The last thing these agents want to hear is, "Sheriff Andy can I have my bullet now?"

While we all hope nothing will ever happen here in Highlands, I want to assure everyone law enforcement on the plateau is prepared.

Mayor's 'Keep Property Clean' proposal was right on

Dear Editor,

I read with great interest the mayor's proposal of a "Keep Property Clean" ordinance. As a real estate professional, I know how important it is for a seller to put his home's best foot forward as first impressions can only be had once.

As visitors to our beautiful town come in from all directions, it's important that property owners along the main roads into Highlands keep their properties looking good.

As a resident who drives in and out of Highlands on a regular basis, there are a few properties out there that always catch my eye...and not because of how spectacular they look.

As home to but a handful of year 'round residents, we are very dependent on tourism and our second homeowners. Let's show how much we care about our town by making a great first impression!

Thanks to all for great 'Motoring Festival'

Dear Editor,

The Highlands Motoring Foundation would like to express their thanks to everyone that made the Highlands Motoring Festival an enormous success. The level of comments from participants, visitors to the town, hotel owners, restaurateurs, retail shop owners and others were overwhelming. And, may I say, 100% positive. People from all over the Southeast came to Highlands for the first time, prompted by the publicity, of the Event. Numerous people made this their first time to Highlands, and needless to say, were very favorable of not only, the Festival, but the town and surrounding area.

But, this was a joint effort of the entire community. From the Town of Highlands town office and officials to the Highlands Motoring Festival and Literacy Council of Highlands volunteers. And especially the sponsors.

The weather was perfect for all events, Thursday through Sunday. Events, were well attended, from the Thursday party at the Ugly Dog, the Friday drive through our mountains, the Friday Gala at The Bascom, the Classic Car Show on Saturday, and the Cars and Coffee on Sunday.

The Festival brought a substantial number of visitors to Highlands. Some for just the day, but many for several days. I received comments from several saying that they were impressed that there was no price gouging that you often find when a major event is hosted in some other cities. Room and restaurant rate remained constant.

William Barry Wallis

William Barry Wallis, of Sandy Springs, Ga and Highlands, NC died on Sunday, June 12, 2016 at the age of 71 due to a post-surgical complication while in recovery at Piedmont Hospital.

He is survived by his loving wife of 30 years, Anne, his sons William Barry Wallis Jr. and John Brent Wallis (Christina), and his grandson Hayden Christopher Wallis, his sister Lee Anne Hearn, and his nieces and nephews Lauren Lovelady, McCalla Busman, Monica Wallis, Adam Wallis and Nathan Barton.

He was preceded in death by his parents Clarence and Earline Wallis, and brother James Rodney Wallis. Barry was the first child blessed to Earline and Clarence Wallis of Mayfield, KY, who instilled in Barry a strong sense of work ethic that inspired Barry to carry several paper routes on his bicycle as a very young boy. He continued his young endeavors by opening a company refurbishing and selling bicycles and, at the time, was the youngest person in The State of Kentucky to be issued a business license.

Barry earned Eagle rank in the Boy Scouts of America, excelled scholastically, being the recipient of all accolades in his high school, including National Honor Society and "Mr. Mayfield High School." Upon graduation he attended one of the top engineering schools in the nation, Georgia Institute of Technology, where he was initiated into Delta Tau Delta fraternity (eventually serving as President) and continued his stride for excellence and formed many lifelong friendships and bonds that he would carry forward with him as an active alumnus and contributor after his graduation in 1968.

Barry financed his education as a Georgia Tech co-op student through employment at Stephenson and Associates, an Atlanta mechanical engineering company.

The last major rebranding effort the Chamber was involved in came in 2005 when the tagline -- Above it All -- was developed. Without any market research on strategies for the Chamber in the last 11 years, Chamber leaders decided to move forward with developing a new strategy and brand for Highlands.

The Chamber hired a destination marketing agency out of Virginia Beach to

He began his professional career with the same organization, helping to build the company to prominence while obtaining ownership interest. He eventually acquired sole control and subsequently established W.B. Wallis and Company. He was with his beloved company for almost 50 years.

Throughout his long and successful career, Barry continued his role as a leader in various professional organizations, including The Mechanical Contractors Association of Georgia, for which he served as President three different years during his affiliation. In 2005, Barry and Anne purchased a vacation retreat in Highlands, NC where they enjoyed spending as much time as possible.

Barry loved restoring his antique cars, traveling, Pilates, golf, volunteering and all things involving his alma mater, Georgia Tech. He cherished a multitude of friends and associates stemming from his association with Georgia Tech, Dunwoody Country Club, professional affiliations, his home in Highlands, NC, and the many traveling companions with whom he and Anne shared numerous excursions all over the world.

Barry was a strong, loving and thoughtful figure and will be dearly missed by his family and friends. A funeral mass was celebrated on Friday, June 17th at St. Jude The Apostle Catholic Church, 7171 Glenridge Drive, Sandy Springs, Ga. 30328.

In lieu of flowers the family would prefer for contributions be made in Barry's memory to Roll Call, The Georgia Tech Annual Fund, c/o The Georgia Tech Foundation, 760 Spring Street, Atlanta, GA 30308; or St. Jude The Apostle Church, at the above address; or The Circle for Children, directed to Mrs. Danielle Houret-Lam, 2993 Andrews Drive NW, Atlanta, GA 30305; or Highlands Playhouse, P.O. Box 896, Highlands, NC 28741.

conduct research and develop a fresh, relevant brand and marketing direction. The contract with BCF Agency cost the Chamber $109,000 over the 18-month period. The agency visited Highlands during all four seasons of the year and learned what makes Highlands special in order to best develop a brand.

with the dual purposes of promoting Highlands' economy and extending the busy fall season into the months of November and December.

"Our wish was and continues to be, that the proposed introduction of two new daytime signature events – a food truck rodeo and an oyster roast – could be held in the immediate downtown business district utilizing the beautiful Kelsey-Hutchinson Founders Park and a section of Main Street.

"Given the relatively short time the Chamber has remaining to finalize, promote and secure sponsors for the HFW program this year as well as the many logistical questions raised, we realize that the Chamber underestimated the time needed to receive town approval for use of the proposed public venues. In the best interest of all parties, the Chamber has decided to withdraw its request for the use of K-H Founders Park and Main Street for the upcoming event in November 2016. We do, however, ask that discussions between The Town and Chamber continue around the possibility of hosting such events in the proposed venues in 2017.

"Despite our disappointment at not being able to hold these events as proposed this year, it seems prudent for the Chamber to move ahead and relocate these events to private venues. We will strive to locate the events as close to downtown Highlands as possible to maximize the positive impact on our local businesses," read the email.

Mayor Taylor and Town Manager Bob Frye said they had met with the HFW committee the previous week to go over what is allowed as far as town property goes but nothing concrete was worked out.

"We will be communicating with the committee over the next year concerning next year's event but what they have been told repeatedly was that it was not up to the town to modify its policies to enable them to do what they wanted but rather it was up to them to modify their event(s) to comply with town policies," said Frye.

The committee did ask if banners could still be hung from light poles to advertise the event even though it will be held on private property this year. The board OK'd the request.

In other Town Board news, Commissioner Brian Stiehler said the Invasive Plant Coalition is eradicating knotweed behind the old jail on Maple Street; Commissioner Amy Patterson reiterated her stance on requiring a permit prior to draining or lowering an impoundment so the town knows what's going on; Commissioner Eric Pierson said plans for a new or renovated fire department building is still in the works but it will be a long and tedious process; Town Manager Frye said two new Altitude workers have been hired so more people are getting hooked up and he said feedback indicates that citizens are happy with the prompt customer service; Frye also said a citizen has offered a live tree Christmas tree for K-H Founders Park but the town is still discussing options; after the public hearing the board passed the 2016-'17 budget; and a public hearing was set for the July Town Board meeting to amend portions of the Unified Development Ordinance.

Finally, I want to acknowledge the support of our many sponsors. Harmony Motors of Asheville, BMW of Asheville, and Skyland Mercedes of Asheville, were our Platinum Sponsors. Additionally, I want to thank the other sponsors that provided financial or in-kind sponsorship. The Highlands Chamber of Commerce, WHLC, Passion Performance, Elevation Motorcars, Wilson Gas, Bryson's Food,, the Park on Main, Highlands Cove Realty, Highlands Automotive, Old Edwards Inn, Cashiers Printing, Bank of America, and the Ugly Dog Public House. Additionally, the support of the print media, specifically our two local papers, the Highlands Newspaper, The Highlander, and the Laurel Magazine for their many articles and news coverage increasing the exposure serving to make this year's event the largest on record.

The Literacy Council of Highlands is the sole beneficiary of the Festival, and we expect this year's revenue to substantially increase, thanks to all the support and efforts of those listed above. In closing, it should be noted that this success could not have been accomplished without the support of scores of volunteers from both the Literacy Council, and the Highlands Motoring Festival. Thanks to all and resulting positioning would be to "pre-qualify" visitors and prospective home owners in a way that would help ensure their expectations were met and exceeded when they arrive in town. Because Highlands is a small town on a plateau, the goal is to narrowly target the audience that appreciates what it has to offer, making visitors, business owners and everyone involved happier and more successful.

The research process revealed to Chamber members that Highlands needed something more than just a mountain getaway type branding. Recurring themes such as sense of discovery, relaxation, refined services and conveniences, and a feeling that stays with you after you leave Highlands, were ideas they wanted incorporated into a brand.

With the recurring themes pinpointed, the agency recommended that Highlands' brand would be ideal for content marketing, which markets Highlands in a way that causes people to feel like they discovered it for themselves and they are special for being a part of it.

To provide visual perceptually continually, the new

Here's the straight poop on having three bathrooms

The president and attorney general are going to be sooooo proud of me. I might even get invited to the Rose Garden for a beer... or not. Or even better, maybe a special citizen's award from our mayor, Pat Taylor. Hey, we do get along and see eye-to-eye on road paving and other stuff. (hint)

Fred Wooldridge

But wait, I'm getting ahead of myself. How could having three bathrooms in our Highlands' home get me anything but bowel and bladder relief? Well, fellow Highlanders, read on and allow me to show you the way.

Keeping with the latest, our bathrooms are gender friendly. We have one for the male species, another for the female species and, are you holding on to something? (Ha!) Our third bathroom is for the transgender folks.

Now, before our gay Highlanders get their shorts in a wad and ask my editor to fire me, this is not about you or being gay. It's about keeping modern with our times and keeping our current administration happy. What's more important than keeping President Obama happy, right? That's a good thing, right? Here's how it works.

When you arrive at our home, bring your birth certificate. We'll have a printer at the front door and your birth certificate will be copied and filed. Then we'll show you the bathroom to use if there's a need. Should a friend arrive who is transgender, a special note will be placed on their certificate and they'll be escorted to our transgender bathroom.

All this is being done out of my respect for my Olympic hero, Bruce Jenner, aka Caitlyn Jenner. He was my hero in the '70s. On July 30, 1976 he won the gold in the decathlon.

Yes, I was disappointed when he decided to become Caitlyn ... that's a dad gum bummer. Currently, rumors are flying that Caitlyn is yearning to be Bruce again. While she...huh, I mean he denies this, I'm hoping it's true. And I'm sure this yearning is due to the fact that when he awakens in the morning, he misses having something to scratch. Oy!

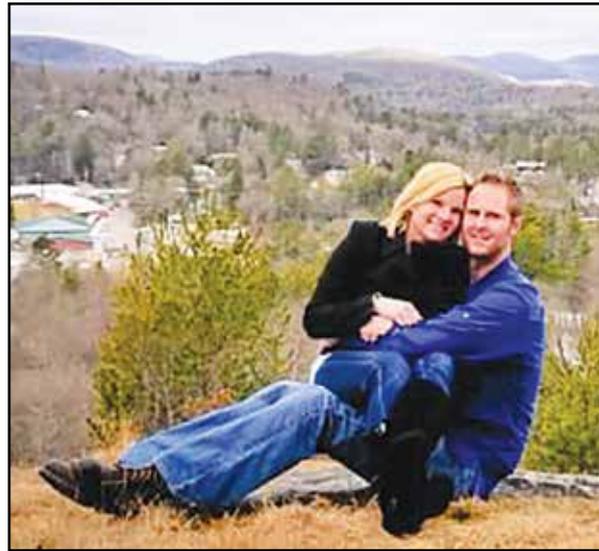

And just in case, know that our transgender bathroom has both a commode and a urinal for those friends that sometimes feel more masculine or feminine while relieving themselves. And are you sitting down? Our bidet also subs as a water fountain. How cool is that?

And I know this is going to make you want to be my friend just so you can visit us at our home and see our operation. Allow me to caution you on that urge. If I sense you're not sincere in your friendship, you'll be escorted to our backyard's fourth bathroom in the woods. You're on your own.

P.S - I'm sorry my column was not in last week. My hard drive crashed and I had to get the computer man, James, to install a new hard drive. It was blank but thank the Lord for backup thumb nails. Ask me if I'm struggling.

How Low Can You Go?

Those words were immortalized by Chubby Checker around 1962 - the song was Limbo Rock. (I highly advise you stop reading this for just a moment, and find it on YouTube or Pandora before finishing.)

It seems that's what we're doing in the real estate market these days. How low can we go? The answer? As low as it takes to get the property sold.

We're starting to see a trend of lower home prices among the majority of NEW listings in our MLS, and it's still pretty much a buyer's market; either one of those things should be sending more buyers to the closing table.

(We interrupt this article for some boring stats to help fill the space between your ears) These stats are using residential (single family, town homes and condos) from the Highlands Township alone.

Don't be discouraged by these numbers; these are just 2-week periods in 2015 and 2016.

Same song, same line "How low can you go?"

We are seeing a little growth in the number of sales in our area, just not as fast as most would like to see. What does this mean? Are we in trouble again? Leaders in the real estate industry say "NO." We've gone through about 10 years of real estate ups and downs; what we are experiencing now is sort of a return to typical real estate activity. Bank-owned properties are fewer these days, and we can finally hear the hammers of new construction.

Do you know how slow time passes while you are waiting for a parade to start? You keep an ear out for drums; you keep stepping out of line to crane your neck to see if anything is happening. Does it make the parade come faster? Not really. The buyers

CLE LECTURE: FBI – Post 9/11, Thursday, June 23 2-4 pm

Valerie Caproni

Former General Counsel of the FBI, Valerie Caproni will speak at the Center for Life Enrichment on Thursday, June 23 at 2:00 pm. Her topic will be the role of the FBI in protecting national security and combating terrorism against the United States. The FBI has long been the preeminent law enforcement agency in the United States. This lecture will discuss actions undertaken by the FBI after 9/11 to respond to the threat of international terrorism and policies and practices implemented to mitigate risks to civil rights and civil liberties.

Now a federal judge in New York City, Caproni served in the FBI from 2003 to 2011. In her capacity as FBI General Counsel, she was directly involved with Congress and the White House in addressing these concerns. Judge Caproni is a native of Columbus, GA and a 1979 graduate from the University of Georgia School of Law.

This presentation promises to be a very timely program given what just occurred in Orlando and Ms. Caproni's intimate knowledge of the FBI's anti-terrorism strategies.

Church of the Incarnation Invitation

The Episcopal Church of the Incarnation will be opening the doors of the original Church and offering tours of the revitalized garden on Saturday, July 9, 2016 from 1-4 p.m. in celebration of 120 years of worship services and ministry. Join Isabel and Jeannie Chambers in the Sanctuary as they relate the early history of Incarnation. Barbara Cusachs will be on hand to talk about the needlepoint kneelers and their historic significance. The Flower Guild will adorn the altar with special flowers to the glory of God.

The Church was built in 1896 from chestnut timbers, and a beautiful walnut-paneled reredos surrounds the altar. The pews are hand carved. The beautiful stained glass windows are dedicated to the memory of Highlands citizens who were actively involved in the life of the Church. These windows depict the stories from the Bible and feature many native plants and animals of the Highlands area.

There will be docents in the newly revitalized garden to identify plants and share their significance to the Church. A musical interlude in the garden will feature Brad Spaulding and friend on guitar and mandolin. Lemonade and cookies will be served. The event is free of charge and the public is invited to attend. Incarnation is located at the corner of Main Street and 5th Street.

BLUEGRASS AT THE BARN on June 25 to Benefit Pregnancy Care Center

One of Franklin's most popular settings for celebrations, The Bloemsma Barn LLC, will be the location for the Smoky Mountain Pregnancy Care Center's (SMPCC) 4th Annual Event, Bluegrass at the Barn, set for Saturday, June 25, 2016, 4:00 – 8:30 PM. The community is invited to purchase tickets and come support this organization that helps so many people in western North Carolina and have a great time doing it.

Activities at Bluegrass at the Barn will be concentrated outdoors and include fun for all ages. The entertainment highlight will be the Mountain Faith Band from Sylva, NC, known across American after being semifinalists in 2015 on America's Got Talent. Jenny Golding, CEO of the SMPCC, said "One of Mountain Faith's songs, 'There is a God,' mentions finding the heartbeat on your baby's ultrasound, and that speaks directly to us at SMPCC. Through faithful, generous donors we have new ultrasound machines that allow our clients to do just that." Mountain Faith has taken their fresh sound of gospel, bluegrass, folk and more across North America, as well as having performed in the Persian Gulf for U.S. military personnel. Their performance in Franklin is part of their 2016 coast-to-coast tour.

Golding expects high attendance at Bluegrass at the Barn, and said, "People here are very supportive of our organization and share our mission. We know we can count on their help by giving financially, committing to volunteering, and keeping us in their prayers. They also love coming to our Barn events where the whole family can enjoy time together." Food vendors will be on hand with variety of meal options, attendees should bring lawn chairs or blankets for the amphitheater style outdoor concert, and a competitive spirit for the Silent Auction. The children's play area will have a bounce house and other activities including Corn Hole for the family to play together.

Everyone will want to check out the Silent Auction with its growing list of exciting items, such as Disney One-Day Park Hopper Passes, 2 Passes to Dollywood, a five-day stay in a private home in Costa Rica, an FSU football signed by Coach Bobby Bowden, 4 golf passes to Apollo Beach Golf Club and a 2015 Cottonbowl Hat signed by Coach Nick Saban.

Tickets for Bluegrass at the Barn start at $15 for children (ages 6-12) and $25 for adults, also a family rate for parents with families of 4 or more $75. Don't forget to bring cash for food vendors and those great items at the Silent Auction. Tickets are available at www.smpccpartners.com, at SMPCC's offices (226 E. Palmer St., Franklin, and 4699 Little Savannah Rd., Cullowhee) or stop by the Franklin and Jackson County Chambers of Commerce to pick up your tickets. Tickets will also be available at the door!

ARE the parade, and there are LOTS of people (Sellers) waiting for the parade to start.

How low can you go? We aren't suggesting you start a price war with your neighbor, but it may be time to talk with your Realtor to see if your property is priced right for today's market. If your property has been on the market for a year or more, it's time to re-evaluate the game plan. It doesn't matter if the asking price is at or a lower price than what you paid. (Well it definitely matters to YOU, doesn't it?)

It also doesn't mean that you paid too much for your home. What it means is that the real estate market changes; just like the stock market, the price of a gallon of gas or milk. If your property has been listed for 3-5 years for the same price, what are you waiting for? We all know by now the definition of insanity is doing the same old thing over and over, and doing it the same old way expecting a different result.

There used to be Sellers who would 'put a price' on their home with the notion 'if it sells - fine, and if it doesn't that's fine too.'

Why would a seller put a Broker through that? Those sellers are not flexible at all, they will not be able to go under the limbo stick. <Buzzer sounds> disqualified. They're essentially out of the game.

Your home may be priced perfectly - it just may take time for the right person to come along - believe me, we hate saying that as much as hate hearing it, but it's true.

Now back to Chubby Checker's version. "Jack be nimble, Jack be quick, Jack go UNDER limbo stick." Translated for real estate: Do this today, don't wait, get yourself in position for the limbo stick to go lower. "All around the limbo block, Hey, let's do the limbo rock"

Sellers: Look around at the homes in your area listed for sale - what are the differences? It's time to make sure YOUR home stands out and get rockin'.

Shaking Things UP: Something New & Different From Las Vegas to Highlands Guy Bavli, Master of the Mind: Saturday, June 25 at 8pm, at Highlands PAC

The concept of Guy Bavli – Master of the Mind is to make the audience the star of the show. He delights audiences with interactive entertainment that delivers a unique combination of mystery, humor, psychology and suspense showcased in an amazing multi-media production of sound, lights, and video. He is truly an "un-BAVLI-able" experience.

Bavli...Destined For The Stage... As a child Guy was fascinated with mystery and magic. At the age of five, he began displaying signs of his destiny – successfully entertaining and having the extraordinary ability to charm people while he performed magical illusions. Recognizing his unique talent that captivated audiences, Bavli's family provided him the opportunity to perform his first paid performance at a country club at the young age of eight. The show became a weekly hit for nearly a year! While most kids his age were out playing ball games, Guy was mastering his unique skills and perfecting his performances that earned him the reputation of a child prodigy star.

Making Headlines Across the Globe: Publicity and corporate events have become one of Bavli's known specialties leading to astounding performances in many countries in Europe and the United States. One publicity stunt he performed as part of a marketing campaign for a company in Germany (JAGUAR) involved Bavli driving a car while blindfolded leaving witnesses speechless and creating media frenzy.

Living Outside:

The Power of a Deck

The addition of any amount of usable square footage to a property increases its value and customized decks are a hot trend in home upgrades while personalizing your yard. Experts agree that multi-level decks—a series of deck levels connected by stairways or walkways—are a very popular option. While wood decks are the most popular, they also require more upkeep. So, people are considering composite materials as a viable option. They may cost more up front, but ultimately last longer and require less maintenance. By designing your deck with accents, lights and unique accessories, you can transform your backyard and make a sizeable impression on potential buyers

Home Selling Tips:

Hardwood Floors Make an Impression

Hardwood flooring enhances the look of any room and creates a classic ambiance. Real estate agents agree that those homes hold their value better, sell faster and attract higher prices. Hardwood floors are always a draw and they impart warmth, depth and richness that can't be matched by carpeting, tile or vinyl flooring.

Restoring hardwood flooring in the home is one of the best long-term investments one can make. And 90% said these homes sell for more money. In addition, an EPA study found that pesticides used in gardens and homes can gather on floors and other surfaces in the home. Wood floors don't trap or harbor dust mites or molds like carpet. Though wood floors will probably need to be refinished at some point, when properly taken care of they are much easier to maintain than other floor surfaces. Hardwood floors could make the difference between a sale or watching a potential buyer walk out the door.

Showing Your Home:

Pets Can Be a Factor

Sellers are advised to create the illusion that everything is new and fresh in their homes. But with pets, it's not always easy to keep things that way: They could scare away a potential buyer from stepping foot in the house; Many are worried about dogs or freaked out by birds; Allergies can also be a factor; A dog that barks or jumps on people is not good

So, it's best to relocate the pet for a showing. That can be to a friend or family member or a pet daycare facility.

If pets must be in the home: Put them in a carrier and attach a note warning buyers not to disturb them; Clean the litter box and keep it out of sight; Put food and water dishes away after feeding; Consider hiring professionals to remove pet stains

To some, pets are smelly, noisy and damaging to a property. Don't let that be the reason you don't sell your home.

I hate to say good-bye!

By Paul Christy
Highlands United Methodist Church

I write to you this week for the very last time as a member of this beautiful community. And for me this is a sad thing. I hope all of you know this is a perhaps the greatest place to live in all of God's creation. So instead of saying goodbye to all of you, I wanted to tell you why I love this place called Highlands.

I love this community because I have seen people helping people. By this I mean that I have seen personally, folks helping others out in powerful ways. If there is a need, you as a community rise to the occasion. If someone is hurting you don't just say, "I am going to pray for you" but you go visit and you take food to people who are hurting. You write notes and you ask how someone is doing and you wait for their answer. That doesn't happen everywhere, and that is why I love this place. You care and love others and I want to thank you for that lesson in life you as a community have taught me.

I want to thank you for teaching me how to slow down and be present in a conversation and truly listen to what is going on in your lives. I have been in a hurry before and walked out of the church to be in a hurry to get somewhere only to be stopped on Main Street and what I thought was being held up was a beautiful delay. But in that delay I found that I was where I needed to be at that time. There is something powerful about being present in a moment. This community has taught me that lesson. I want to thank you for that. I see you visit on the street, I see you taking an hour and half lunch break, and I see you stopping on the street to hold up traffic to say hello and ignore the line of cars behind you. That is a lesson in being present.

So it is with a sense of sadness and gratitude that I write to you this week because as of Tuesday June 28th I will no longer be a resident of the greatest town in the world, Highlands. Instead, I will be a resident of Hickory serving at a church from which my dad retired in 1997. My mom and dad loved Hickory as much as we have loved Highlands so maybe there is a lesson in that as well.

We love our communities because of people. There will be good people in Hickory just as there are here in Highlands; the difference is that we haven't lived there yet. And it also matters that we will move from these beautiful mountains. My prayer for you all is to continue to love one another. Continue to be a place that people feel comfortable visiting and continue to show your patience with all you meet. Thank you as a community for teaching me some valuable life lessons and for being patient with me as one of the preachers in this community.

Every Sunday morning I rode around the community to get ready to preach and listened to the greatest singer and song writer James Taylor, and I rode down the Dillard Road and stopped at the Blue Valley Overlook. I would stop and look out over the hills and think of that great Psalm which starts like this: "I will lift my eyes to the hills, from where does my help come? It comes through the Lord who made heaven and earth." I will think of that every Sunday for the rest of my life but I want to leave you with this thought.

We are all blessed because we have a God who loves us and cares for us and we have a God who loves the world so

US Choir Thrills Canadian Audiences

The world famous Atlanta Boy Choir has just returned from having appeared in concerts throughout British Columbia, Canada. The Choir, now in its 60th year, was greeted by overflow crowds for each of their performances and was given standing ovations. The 35 boys and 25 men who make up this Grammy Award Winning choir have sung throughout the world under the direction of its Founder Maestro Fletcher Wolfe, but have seldom encountered such enthusiastic audiences.

One of their listeners, the renowned English organist and composer, Pete Orme, traveled many miles to hear a second performance and said he was captivated by such beautiful music.

The Choir, now being noticed for their performance in the film Captain America, appeared in Highlands at the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation several weeks prior to this tour and was acclaimed by many of the listeners as being one of their greatest musical experiences.

Featured at each of their performances in Canada, Maestro Wolfe introduced his accompanist Dr. Robert Henry as America's finest pianist and called him to play a solo for them. After his brilliant and beautiful playing the audience once again rose to their feet for an applause lasting five minutes. Also appearing on the concerts were the extraordinary instrumentalists who accompany the Choir.

It is of great interest that over the years many Highlanders have had sons who are now alumni of this choir.

Some of these include Mr. and Mrs. John Maddox – two sons, Dr. and Mrs. William Stiefel – three sons (two of those pursued music careers), Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Roberts' son, Brent, was a longtime member and Mr. and Mrs. John Jones' son, TV Personality Brennan Robison. Other Alumni of interest include Pulitzer prize winner, Taylor Branch, TV's Mad Men Producer, Dwayne Shattuck, Tony Award winner, Schuler Hensley and European orchestra conductor, Mark Stringer just to name a few.

Each of these consider Maestro Wolfe and their Choir experiences to have been a catalyst for their success.

...INVESTING from 14

Real estate is a funny business to be in sometimes. Not funny, Ha Ha, but funny as in strange. You can ask anything you want for your property, but until it is recorded at the courthouse under a different name, it's still yours. No one gets paid until it's sold.

Finally, a word for BUYERS: There is more variety in our area's real estate than I've ever seen. In the Highlands Township, there are 420 residential/town homes/condo listings ranging from $75,000 all the way up to $4,999,000.

Now get those limbo real estate legs going, and see how low you can go. If it's TOO low, you're not necessarily disqualified from the game; the Seller may just have to raise the limbo stick a little with a counter-offer.

much that God sent His Son to show and teach us how to be in relationships, and all who believe in Him should have ever lasting life. And God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world but to love the world.

The way I understand that scripture is that we are to love one another. You have taught me to love community in the schools, in the town and in your churches. Thank you. A dear friend of mine here in Highlands said this to me, "Once Highlands gets in your blood you will always want to come back." I will be back.

May God bless you and keep you all and may God grant you grace. Thank you for eight of the most wonderful years of my life. You have blessed me and my family.
